School Classes Slated

Several new classes are being added to the program offered by San Pedro Community Adult School, principal James R. Wall has announced.

Classes to be added to the curriculum for the spring semester starting in late January will be announced shortly.

Wall, 39, former teacher at San Pedro Community Adult School, was named principal last week to succeed Dr. John D. Kegler.

Dr. Kegler, the school's administrator for the past 10 years, was promoted to data processing consultant for the Los Angeles City Schools.

A MEMBER of the Los Angeles City School System since 1956, Wall served as a U.S. history and science teacher at Fleming Junior High School, Lomita, for nine years.

Currently more than 1,700 men and women attend day and evening classes at the school located at 1001 W. 15th St., San Pedro.

In addition to a normal academic program offering required courses necessary to achieve high school diplomas, San Pedro Community Adult School schedules several business classes.

IT IS THE only school in the area with a course in retail cashing and grocery checking. Classes are offered in celestial navigation and boat safety, in woodworking, machine shop and cabinetmaking.

Interior decoration and clothing construction courses are in the curriculum as well as courses in police science, swimming, blueprint reading, ship-fitting, welding, tailoring and parent education.

Bank Is Open at Boat Show

Centinel Valley Bank, headquartered in Inglewood, plans to operate a branch office at the Boat Show in Los Angeles' Pan Pacific Auditorium, Jan. 24 to Feb. 2, announced bank president, Rowan Henry.

It will mark the second year that the bank, a specialist in boat financing, will have a working office at the public show. The branch will operate during show hours and thus will be open up to 11 hours a day.

In the unusual extended hours of operation, Centinela Valley Bank will have the distinction — on a temporary basis — of offering banking services 63 hours the week of Jan. 26, compared with the normal 25 to 28 hours observed by most California banks.

Centinela Valley Bank, with a head office at 524 E. Nutwood St., Inglewood, has branch offices in Hermosa Beach at 1103 Pier Ave., and in Playa del Rey at 8117 Manchester Ave. It has an application on file with the State Banking Department to establish a branch office in Newport Beach.

Vietnam Children Get Gifts

A newly formed Red Cross Club at Torrance High School shipped a school gift chest to refugee children of South Vietnam last week.

The chest was built by John McKee under the direction of instructor Mark Jones. It was filled by the following members of the Torrance High student body: Elaine Haines, Jeff Tasket, Arenda Laird, Glen Warner, Margaret Kratville, Yvonne Ellison, Donna Wilson, and Rosie Voich.

The contents of the chest included educational, recreational, and health supplies, such as note-books, soap, towels, pens, jump ropes, toothbrushes, toothpaste, and school bags.

The supplies were donated by merchants in the Torrance and San Pedro areas. Other projects the Torrance Club will work on this year include projects for bettering the Torrance Community. The club is sponsored by school nurse, Mrs. Thelma Meier.
